MONTH BY MONTH

Every month in one line

January	8/10	Dry, warm coasts, cold highland nights and whales on both sides of Baja.
February	9/10	The month when every region works: dry, warm and full of wildlife.
March	8/10	Hot, dry and lively, with spring break on the beaches and blossom in the capital.
April	7/10	The last dry month on the coasts, with Easter crowds and rising heat inland.
May	6/10	Hot, quiet and good value, the last calm month before the rains.
June	5/10	The rains begin: green highlands, warm sea and whale sharks in the Caribbean.
July	6/10	Green Oaxaca, whale sharks and Mexican summer holidays on every beach.
August	4/10	Hot, humid and storm-prone, with family crowds until school returns.
September	3/10	Peak hurricane month and Independence: the cheapest and riskiest time to go.
October	6/10	The rains fade inland, Day of the Dead builds, the coasts stay storm-prone.
November	9/10	Day of the Dead, the return of dry skies and the first good beach weeks.
December	7/10	Dry and warm, then the year-end peak: the most expensive fortnight in Mexico.
